CRIG YouTube Annotations workshop

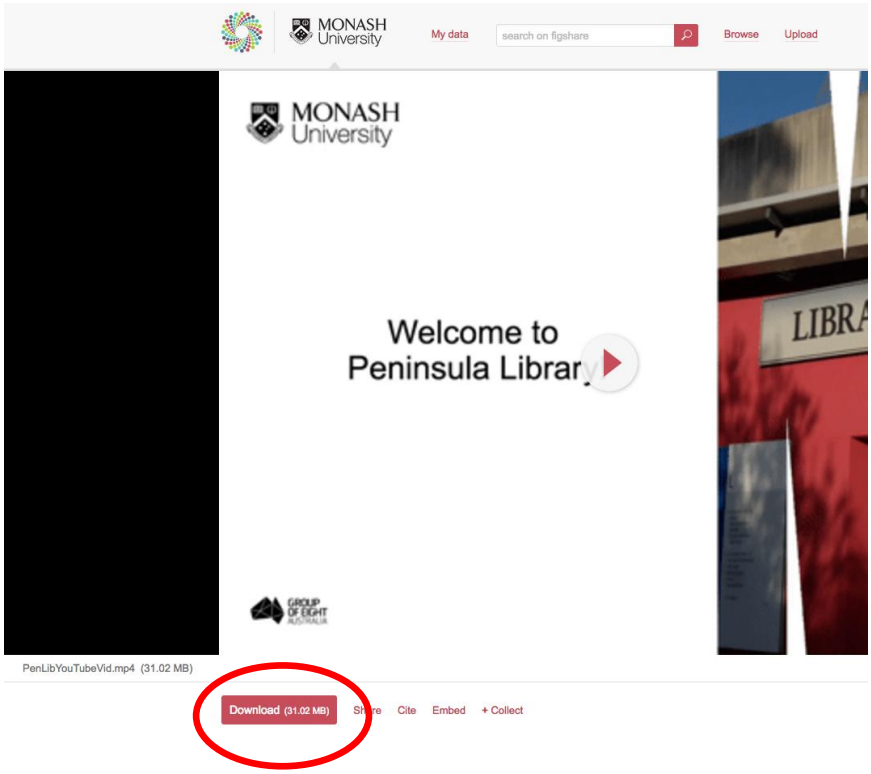
1. You'll need a YouTube account to join in the hands-on aspects of the workshop. There are a few possibilities:
    a. If your institution uses the Google platform (e.g. you have access to Google Docs, Calendar, Drive etc.) you will probably have a YouTube account available to you. There might be an opt-in process you need to follow – check with your institution's IT people if required.

    b. If you have your own personal Gmail account, you can easily set up a YouTube account following the directions below.

    c. If you don't have a personal or institutional Gmail account, it's easy to set one up. (You never have to use it again after the workshop if you don't want to!). Just go to https://accounts.google.com/signup?hl=en and add the relevant information.

More info on how to set up a YouTube account can be found here: https://support.google.com/youtube/answer/161805?co=GENIE.Platform=Desktop&hl=en

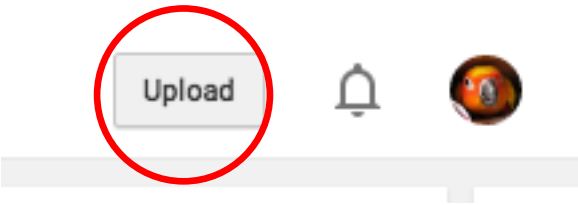
2. Once your account is set up, download this file: https://figshare.com/articles/CRIG_Forum_video_file/4263209
NOTE: This is a large file (31MB) so make sure you have a stable internet connection and use WiFi or Ethernet – not mobile data!

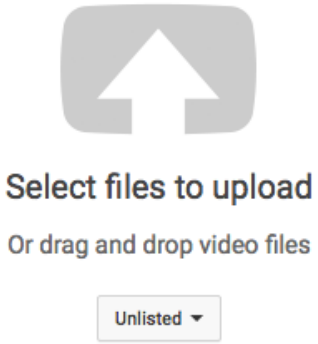


The download option appears below the video, in a red box.

If you have trouble accessing this file, please contact allie.ford@monash.edu with a screenshot of any error messages.

Once you've downloaded the video, go back to your YouTube account. Use the upload button at the top right of the screen to upload the video to your YouTube channel. Click on the arrow to choose files (or drag and drop) Choose the 'unlisted' option.





You might want to watch the video to see what it's all about. We'll show you how to annotate it at the workshop!
